Management Approach

The company places great importance on environmental management within the organization. It continuously plans and collects environmental data to minimize the environmental footprint resulting from its business operations. SVT has established environmental policies and practices to control and reduce potential negative impacts, such as greenhouse gas emissions and waste generation.

The company encourages employee participation in environmental management and fosters business resilience to adapt to environmental changes (Environmental Business Resilience).

Furthermore, SVT integrates environmental practices into all aspects of its operations — including production processes, warehouse management, and product distribution through vending machines — as well as across its entire value chain involving all stakeholders.
